

Please read upon delivery

Handling & Storage

You must follow HSE guidelines and conduct a manual handling risk assessment where required.

Please refer to the Manual Handling Regulations 1992, as amended by the Health and Safety (Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2002.

Avoid Manual Handling where possible.

Take care when handling. To avoid damage do not throw or drop.

Products must be safely stored in a designated, dry storage area.

Installation

Installation should be carried out following site safety procedures with clear access to work areas.

Installers must be deemed competent to install the products. Siderise offer product installation training for free, contact: site.services@siderise.com.

Works should be inspected by the contracting company to satisfy their QA process. Siderise offer inspection services to assist with the contractor's QA's, records should be kept.

Operation & Maintenance

Safety information can be found in the safety datasheet on www.siderise.com.

No special maintenance required, the product should be inspected as part of the standard maintenance schedule of the façade cavity by a competent person and records should be kept.

Disposal

All waste should be disposed of following site requirements.

Any special requirements required for these products can be found on the safety datasheet at www.siderise.com.